Davidson Will Not Run for the Senate County Option to Play Impor-tant Part With Primary

Decision. [BURGIAL TO THE GARRITE.]

Madison, March 16.—Even those most blind to politics in Wisconsin can see that the present complex situ- ity of the state primary law itself has ation in the state is bound to bring been questioned. A suit has been about a new alignment of affairs that brought in the state supreme court will, unless nipped in the bud, again send Robert M. La Foliette to the United States senate, place one of his faction in the governor's chair and fill of the present week, but which has

Up hominations and would entail a contractive the nothing has been siderable cost upon eities throughout done and the situation is now more the state. If the law is declared un-complex than over.

Different factions of the anti-LaFollette forces are all struggling for recognition, all seeking to name the mon who are to make the contest oven interesting to the "boss." For a yoar past Samuel Cook of Neenah has had his lightning red up for either the governorship or the United States senatorship. He is not particular which. the goal of his ambition than before, holding federal position in the nation's capital, congressmen and senators, have always more or less dabbled in the local factional fights. This element has again come to the front and by their action in securing the control of the anti-La Follette faction in Wil-Ham Connor's hands have allenated the support of many of the younger republicans of the state.

Not only has the Washington clique done this but they have gone further and sont word to Governor Davidson that they wish him to run for the United States senate against La Follette and not try and sook another term he governor. In fact it has been put to the governor in such shape that he is told by the Conner element that he must do as they wish or he is and line really surcharged it with a back aumber in politics. As his successor they are said to be filtring with District Attorney Bacchus of Mil to evercome. wanker and William Brumder of the same city.

That Governor Davidson will not be a candidate for the United States senate is certain. It would mean political cal suicide for him to make the run with the uncertainty of election by the logislature and the possibility of defout at the primaries. The gover-nor realizes this fact and has flatly refused to act as the tool for the Connor faution to play with and then cast In fact, the governor is not cortain INTEREST IN THINGS that he does not want to rettre to priaside when they are through with him. vate life after seventeen years of pub-lie service and it will take strong persuasion on the part of his friends to compel him to run again for any

There, are those who are most anxious to have Davidson a candidate for the governorship and thus proserve the organization. They place their reasons for this action on the grounds that the governor really wholes more power than does a United Students of the University of Wiscom-Hattee Seemtor and that It is essential she conducted by John R. They also have arged the governor to announce his candidacy on the grounds that the state is building a new capital that is to cost several the women of the student body result-million when complete, that the work ed in many additional conversations, thus fur has been done without any that just at this time when the most would be most disastrous to the work.

upon the question of his fliness for the office. It is remembered that he was defeated for the republican state chairmanship a little over a year ago,

They even point out the fact that Me lovern, with his state-wide acquaint ance, would be a serious obstacle to my hopes of victory.

That Connor plans, no matter who s named at the primary next fall, to elect his own candidate when the legislature meets, and many say that he will be that candidate, is certain, Candidates for the legislature, men known to be opposed to La Follette, are being closely questioned as to whether they will stand by the pri-mary or not. Where they have given unsatisfactory answers others are being quietly picked to oppose them.

On the other hand the opposition is badly split up and apparently can not reach any agreement as to condidates or politics. to candidates or policies.

The Taft sentiment in Wisconsin is not strong. The senior senator is not favorable to the president's interests and his followers go where he leads. The appointment of Comor as the president's personal representative

Over the state the congressional delegates in Washington are for the most part of the insurgent stamp which does not help matters at all and the contest to defeat them is an important matter in the chaotic condi-tions that exist. Without unity of the opposition of La Foliette he will win with case and unity on the part of his opponents appears to be a foreign qualification just at the present time.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

The question of greatest interest in connection with the congressional compaign of 1910, of course, is whethwould be a good thing for the country atance, the injunction, is not confined to the party at present in opposition. Next in interest in the question of republican control, as a result of the congressional election of sixty-second congress; for in the ap- hundred days' campaign, proaching campaign, on the republican side, at least, there is to be a battle within a battle, although in most be carried beyond the conventions. ately. Up to the conventions, however, the republicans in many districts, east as well as west, will be divided as not for years on party managers, party management and party politics. That these divisions, or their influences and effects, will extend beyond the conventions, and lead to indifference and revolt in the ranks, thereby enabling democrats in close districts to capture republican seats, can hardly be doubt-

For the present, we have it upon seemingly reliable authority that the republican congressional committee in the campaign of 1910 will give out only such political literature as shall be outlied to the stamp of regularity. No insurgent literature will be distributed. Insurgents, in other words, will receive no organization aid in any effort, they may make to win votes by attacking the party's managers or hit just the right place when he went measures. The congressional committee will stand pat on the tariff and on every other republican enactment antagonized by the progressives. At the same time the committee will not oppose insurgents at the primaries or

It is only reasonable to assume that this attitude will bring out a vigorous response. The insurgents, thrown upon their own resources, are quite certain to become even more aggressive, and it will be passing strange if, as the campaign advances, they do not carry the fight into districts at present believed to be safely guarded.

It is a pieasure to learn that Masuji Mlyakawa, who is in this country lecturing to promote a hotter under-Bworn circulation statement of the standing between Japan and the United States, brings a boautiful message of peace from the children of Dally. to hand "to our sisters and brothers of the United States." It is in the form of a resolution adopted at a pul-He school in Toklo. In the prenmble, the spupils say they have been told that there is a certain sentiment which looks upon war between tho two nations as inevitable. Then follow these words:

In view of our teachings at school and at home, that "the American people are the foster-mothers of Japan's should I not complete my education? Fashionable Corset for the New Gowns

Fashion has ushered in some radical changes this season; draped skirts are again in vogue, and the new style dress with its turned up overskirt is one of the attractive features of the new gowns; but the feminine, mind must study their figures closely to see if they are properly corseted before attempting this style, that will make the hips look like tubs unless skillfully corseted.

While it is true that the new corsets show a curved waist line, beware of the model that accontuates the hips; the old style short curved corset pushed down the flesh to the hips, showing an abrupt line, but the new long models curve gradually into the extension of the skirt, creating the sloping hips so fashionable just now; for to conform to the mandate of fashion the hips must be held in subjection.

SCENE FROM "ST ELMO". WHICH APPEARS AT MYERS THEATRE, THURSDAY, MARCH 17.

ent years have been dramatizations if successful novels and "St, Elmo" s certain to add another to the already long list. Every man who has recognized the truth behind the pow-orful character of "St. Elmo," as lrawn in Augusta J. Evans' book, and very woman who has laughed and wept with the dainty herojne will flud that the play has simply added to the compelling interest of the story.

St. Rimo, whose early vision of love a wrecked by a friend whom be Kills, finds his attention emight by a sweet little girl who begins by hating him, With his distrust of all women '81. Elmo" tempts and tests the truth of the girl in every positive manner. "Every reform," says Emerson, "was once a private opinion."

Every great movement such as attracts great men was born of an opinion.

It is to probogate and promulgate those ideas that men must toil with infinite patience.

It is the little every-day reforms that help.

We are apt to forget that the first great duty of a reformer is to reform himself.

There is a reform movement on foot to boost Janesville, by boosting Janesville industries. There are a thousand boosters and a few knockers. KELLOGG HITS STANDARD TRUST

QUESTIONED BY COURT AS HE ARGUES FOR STANDARD'S DEATH.

ADMITS ABILITY OF HEADS

Declares Corporation's Energy Has Crushed Competition Under Ensign of Diack Flag and Will Control Country If Not Crushed.

Washington, Mar. 10,-Frank B. Kellogg, lawyer for the government, after speaking three hours and a half before the United States supreme court, In going over the evidence in the case for the dissolution of the Standard Oll, concluded with the words; "H that concern is not a combination lu restraint of trade, then, in Heaven's namo what is it?"

Trust Agreement Is Copied.

"If it is not a monopoly, then what is it? I challenge all history to show its equal as a combination, or as a monopoly. It was just the sort of concern the congress had in mind when it legislated against combinations in restraint of trade. It was its trust agreement that was copied in all other trust agreements that led to the anti-trust act."

What sort of a corporation do you think the legislature had in whid when the act was passed?" asked Mr. Justice White who had listened in-

Mr. Kellogg, for the government, followed John C. Milburn, representing the corporation, and like Mr. Milburn he gave a history of the Standtirely different history from that presented by the corporation attorney.

"Mr. Milburn says that is competition," he said after citing evidence to show how the Standard had driven its competitors out of business. "I admit it was competition, the flercost kind as You Tiak of competition. But I deny that the morals of this country are so low that it was necessary to lie and steal It Should Be..... and cheat for this corporation to maintain its status against competi-

"Have I donied that they have ability and energy?" he said again, reply ing to Mr. Milburn's contention that it was ability and energy that built up the Standard's business.

Raise the Black Flag. "They have ability and energy of the highest order; ability to make combinations and energy to crush out competition. But they have raised the black flag and it is under that ensign their ability, and energy have been used."

He read from the defendant's brief that they had a right to combine and use their money as they pleased, and then he said: "Let them combine and let them use their money as they please, and I believe that this company and others like it will control the industrial affairs of this country before ten years have gone by: yes, before five years have passed. And if you remove the fear of the law, they will combine, they will control the

Ponder over the fable of the duck who, having laid a dozen eggs this soason, complained that while her working record was botter than the hen's, the latter had books and poems written to her honor, while no one ever heard a single word of praise for the duck...A wise old rooster near her said: "You lay an egg, then waddle off without saying a word about it, while that sister of mine never lays one without everybody knowing it. If you want to cut any ice around here you must advertise."

As a matter of fact, it is an accepted axiom that it will not be safe for your business to got along without advertising until buyers forget to forget, competition ceuses to compete, and every present and prospective customer has been convinced that you are delivering values that are strictly honest, and even then your new goods arriving daily ought to be advertised so that the people will know you

CONSTIPATION.

Chronic constinution is avery common aliment and it is a great deal more serious than most people imaginc. Everybody should have a good full bowel movement dally. This is necessary in order that the waste matter may be carried out of the body. If it is not carried out of the body it gradually re-decomposes forming polsons. The remedy is easily found by the Chiropractor, by examining the spine at the point where the nerves o the bowels branch off. Usually dislocations are found which shut off the nervous energy. Adjust the spine so as to allow the nerves' to act proporly and the bowels become normal. This is common sense. Yet the doc-tors invariably give poisonous medicines to make the bowels act once. This weakens the bowels rather than makes them stronger and once you begin taking poisons to stimulate the bowels you will find that you will require it more and more. not remove the cause at all and leaves you worse off than ever. Cigar Talk No. 2

One of the most important considerations in cigar quality is the conditions under which the cigars are kept. Cigars must be kept at the proper condition of moisture, neither the dry or too wet. Even if it is too dry or too wet. Even If it is molat enough when you smoke it, remember that every time it drys out it loses some of its flavor and aroma. It is impossible to keep a cigar case at the proper degree by means of wet blotters or spouges, as most dealers

We have in our cigar case a patented system which absolutely controls the degree of moisture in the case at all times. It keeps the cigars just moist enough for a proper smoke. One eight from our case will convince

The Evening Chit-Chat

O MOST men like forward girls?

How I wish that all the poor, foolish young girls in the world who show by their forward ways that they answer that in the affirmative, could listen to me and believe me when I tell them that they are a thousand times wrong. A day or two ago I received a letter from someone who seemed to be a school boy, or perhaps a young man just out of school.

He did not say much about himself, but from the handwriting and from the way the letter was written I am pretty sure he was a nice average, hencest and yet hot at all priggish, young chap. Just the kind I'm sure that all my young girls hope will come to them some day and ask them to share a little white cottage with him.

And what do you suppose he wanted?

And what do you suppose he wanted?

Just that I should try to make young girls realize that most young men—however they may pretend to feel—as a matter of fact are simply disgusted by forward girls. By forward I don't mean-and I don't think he meant—actually bad.

He just meant the kind of girl who runs after all the boys in school, who makes eyes at boys on the street corner, who firts desporately on the sleigh ride, street corner, who mus desporately on the single ride, who invents obvious prefenses to call up her boy friends on the telephone and even calls up hoys she doesn't know and talks to them; who is always on the

You may say that being a woman I don't know what I'm talking about.

Then listen to this sentence from my boy's letter—

"I have a brother in the high school, and I think there is not a day goes by but some girl calls him up. Its doesn't like it, but he listens to them and 'joilies' them, which seems to please them very much."

But don't believe it! For it isn't so.
Men enjoy firting with the forward girl, to be sure, but it's the alce girl they ask to make the little white celtage a Heaven for two.

I believe that this boy's feelings are a fair sample of the attitude of his gex and that it not only is right to be self-respecting, but it also, "pays."

The modern practice of eating dessarts, and deficacles in general, following heavy meals, is responsible, next to stimulants, for most of our distetle troubles. The masses of the people in England, America, Sweden, Germany and France, especially, have adopted these customs and the result is an alarming increase in cancer and tuberculosis, the former due chiefly to disorganized and excessive nutrition, the latter to bad ventilation and improper feeding. In the countries of southern Lurope, where the diet has changed little, there has been little increase in these diseases.

work late at night trying to balance your cash?

Don't you spend lots of time doing lotail work that you should spend inlooking after the bigger things in your business?

At how much per day do you value your time?

If I could show you how to save thirty working days, of over ten hours each, every year, it would interest you,.

wouldn't it? Don't you spend over an hour every day on your accounts? If you do, you are wasting over thirty days every year. You could plan a good many new ways to make more money if you had all that time. It would give you time to meet your customers and get better acquainted with them,

How many times on a busy day has a customer come in to pay his account, and you have had to take time to finish posting and balance his account? How much better and more satisfactory it would be when Mr. Jones says, . "I want to pay my account," for you to say right away, "Your account is $32.10; here are all the items." Mr. Jones is satisfied, and sottles his month's account as quickly as you would sell him a cigar.

By our new method your accounts are posted right up to the minute. When your store is closed your accounts ' are balanced, and you can go home with the clerks.

It also gives you the assurance that no mistakes have been made in any cus-.tomer's account,

Isn't this worth considering?'

and the harmful effect of saloon influence on the young men of the city.

To substantlate their claim that the city would not suffer should the sacity would not suffer should the saloons he ligislated out of business, the speakers showed how this action illy, notably Reckford. Among the arguments offered were statistics proving that the sulcon proving the sulcon proving that the sulcon proving the sulcon proving that the sulcon proving the sulcon prov proving that the sulcon was directly responsible for seven-eights of the nation's fallen women.

Although they had the less popular side, J. T. Fitchett. B. P. Crossman and E. C. Halley, negative speakers, presented the saloon side of the case very foreibly and clearly. They showed that one-lifth of the money used by the government for running expenses was derived directly from saloon licenses and that the saloon was almost the only club to which the poor man is admitted. In attempting to show that the abolition of the Baloon would not stop the drink evil, the speakers usked why, if one-third of the area of the United States were dry, the importation of liquors had in creased during the past year.

Good-By to Jerry Dangerfield. The next morning Ardmore knacked at Griswold's door as early as he dured, and went in and talked to his friend in their old intimate fashion.

The associate professor of admiralty was shaving himself with care. "You won't have any hard feelings about that scarlet fever business, will you, Grissy? It was downright selfish of me to want to keep the thing to myself, but I thought it would be fun to go shead and carry it through and then show you how well I pulled it

"Don't ever refer to it again, if you love me," spluttered Griswold, amiably, as he washed off the lather. "I, too, have ruled over a kingdom, and I have seen history in the making, quorum pars magna ful."

"But I say, Grissy, there is such a thing as fate and destiny and all that efter all; don't you believe it?" "Don't I believe it! I know it!" thundered Griswold, reaching for a towel. He lifted a white rose from a glass of water where it had spent the night and regarded it tenderly. "The right rose under the right star, and the thing's done; the rose, the star and the girl-the combination simply can't be beat, Ardy."

Ardmore seized and wrung his friend's hand for the twentieth time; but he was preoccupied, and Griswold, fastening his collar at the mirror, hummed softly the couplet:

With the winking eye For my battle-ery.

"Grissy!" shouted Ardmore, "she

It's not often I do so well before breakfast, And now if you're to be congratulated before I go back to the groves of Academe pray bestir yourself. At this very moment I have an engagement to walk with a lady before breakfast -thanks, yes, that's my coat. Good-Brenkfast was a lingering affair at Ardsley that morning. The two governors and the National Guard officers who had spent the night in the house were not in the slightest hurry to break up the party, for such a company, they all knew, could hardly be assembled again. The governors were a trifle nervous as to the attitude of tile press, in spite of Collins' offerts to dictate what history should say of the affair on the Raccoon; but before they left the table the Raleigh morning papers were brought in and it was clear that the newspaper men were keeping their contract.

"I congratulate you, Dangerfield," sald Gov. Osborne. "I only hope that the Columbia and Charleston papers have done half as well by me."

Both governors had decided upon an inspection of such portions of their militia as were assembled on the Raccoon, and a joint dress parade was appointed for six o'clock.

Ardmore, anxious to make every one at home, saw the morning pass without a chance to speak to Jerry; and when he was free shortly before noon he was chagrined to find that she had gone for a ride over the estate with her father, Gov. Osborne. Barbara and Griswold. He went in pursuit, and to his delight found her presently sitting alone on a log by the Raccoon, having dismounted, it appeared, to rescue a fielgling robin whose cries had led her away from

"How perfectly ridiculous! Has it never occurred to you that I am never lonesome, not even when I'm alone."

"Well," said Ardmore, who saw that he was headed for a blind alley, "I'm glad your father was not displeased with our work. It's a good thing all this fuse about the Appleweight people is over or I should be worse than allly. My mind was not intended for such heavy work."

"I think you have a good mind, Mr. Ardmore," said Jerry, with the air of one who makes concessions. "You really did well in all these troubles, and you did much better than I thought you would the day I hired you for private secretary. I think I could safely recommend you to any governor in need of assistance."

"You talk as though you were get ting ready to discharge me," said Ardmore, plaintively, "and I don't want to lose my job,"

"You ought to have something to do," sald Jerry, thoughtfully. neur as I can make out you have never done anything but study about pirates and collect perhiclous books on the sinful life of Capt, Kidd. I removed him myself in a general order I wrote yesterday afternoon just before I told papa that you and I could not act as governor any longer, but that he must resume the yoke."

"But that must have been a matter of considerable delicacy, Miss Danger field, when you consider that you are engaged to marry Mr. Gillingwater," "Not in the least," said Jerry, "I

Jerry held up her left hand and regarded its ringless tingers judicially, while Ardmore, his heart racing hotly against all records, watched her, and with a particular covetousness his eyes studied that triffe of a hand.

Then with a quick gesture he seized her hand and raised her gently to her

"Jerry!" he cried. "From the moment you winked at me I have loved I should have followed you round the world until I found you. It you can marry a worthless wreich like me, if-oh, Jorry!"

She gently freed her hand and stepped to one side, hending her head like a bird that pauses alarmed, or uncertain of its whereabouts, glancing cautiously up and down the creek. "Mr, Ardmore," she said, "you may not be aware that when you asked me to be your wife-and that, I take it, was your intention-you were standing in South Carolina, while I stood with both feet on the sacred soil of the Old North State. Under the circumstances I do not think your proposal is legal. Moreover, unless you are quite positive which eye it was that so far forgot itself as to wink, I do not think the matter can go fur-

The slightest suggestion of a smile played about her lips, but he was very deeply troubled, and, seeing this, her eyes grew grave with kindness. "Mr. Ardmore, if your muscles of locomotion have not been utterly paratyzed, and if you will leave that particular state of the union which. next to Massachusetts, I most deeply abhor, I will do what I can in my poor weak way-as father says in beginning his best speeches-to assist you to the answer."

Then for many acons, when he had his arms about her, a kiss, which he had intended for the lips that were so near, somehow failed of its destination, and fell upon what seemed to him a reso leaf gone to Heaven, but which was, in fact, Jerry Dangerfield's left eye. His being tingled with the most delicious of intexications, to which the clasp of her arms about his neek added unnecessary though not unwelcome delight. Then she drew back and held him away with her finger-tipe for an instant.

irritation was always worse at night and would not allow me to sleep, or my wife either, and it was completely undermiling our health. I lost fifty pounds in weight and was almost out of my mind with pain and chagrin as no matter where the irritation came, at work, on the street or in the presence of company, I would have to seratch it until I had the blood running down into my slice. I simply cannot describe my suffering during those seven years. The pain, mortification, loss of sleep, both to myself and wife is simply incisceribable on paper and one has to experience it to know what it is.

"I tried all kinds of doctors and remedies but I might as well have thrown my money down a sower. They would dry it up for a little while and slit me with hope only to break out again just as bad if not worse. I had given up hope of ever being cured when I was induced by my wifs to give the Cuticura Remedies for a little while I began to see a change and after taking a dozen bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, in conjunction with the Cuticura Rosolvent, and Cuticura Ointneut, the trouble had entirely disappeared and my leg was as fine as the day I was born. CANCER AND HYPER-NUTRI-TION OF ALBUMEN.

Cancer is a growth of an independent organism in the nutritive social organization. Thus an abortive stomach with traces of enpacity for secreting gastric fluid grows on the liver till it destroys the functioning of that organ. When cut out, the same cancerous stomach growths may start again in the same or some other place, but always with the same character, by cell divi-sion, like producing like. Cancer, like tuberculosis, is common to all the lower animals, the goat being freest from it. Thousands of experiments have been conducted on guinea pigs, rate and mice in this country and Europe, without conclusion as to cause or cure. With the statistics on cancer, and these data in the light of the most advanced knowledge of nutrition, the conclusion has been reached that as consumption is hypo-nutrition of albumen, usually attacking the lungs, so cancer is hyper-nutrition of albumen, the essential substance of which cells are formed. It is due to abnormal appropriation of albumen for cell formation, usually after middle life, when less alburten is required, and an excess is supplied. Consequantly the children of Irlsh, German and Scandinavian parents in this country, eating much more albuminous food, meat and eggs, especially, than their parents were adapted to, show a greatly increased mortallty from cancer, while Itallans, Bohemlans, Greeks and other nationalities who continue to eat, largely, the same low protein food as their ancestors, larnely fruit, show little indisposition is hereditary. There is no artificial anti-toxin, but its cause clearly indicates the remedy to be in control of diet and mental states. That injury should be an exciting cause of cancer is as clear in the light of this explanation as that an inclalon is needed-in grafting, and that it should appear so often in those organs subject to special growth is also plain. Cheap and Big Can Baking Powder is Only Big in Size Not in Satisfaction—Not in Fearers A large can and a small cost does not make baking powder cheap-or even less expensive than Calumet—the high-quality, moderate-price kind. It certainly cannot make it as good. Don't judge baking powder in this way—the real test—the proof of raising power, of evenness, uniformity, wholesomeness and deliciousness will be found only in the baking.

BAKING POWDER

is a better baking powder than you have ever used before. And we will leave it to your good judgment for proof. Buy a can today. Try it for any baking purpose. If the results are not better—if the baking is not lighter, more delicious, take it back and get your money. Calumet is medium in price—but great in satisfaction.
